

The Light Path
Lecture #7 of Year Three

The Light Beings Speak

I ask the divine light guide us and protect us. I call forth the beings of light and love, truth and wisdom. And I ask now that all that we need for the divine enfoldment of our souls, on all levels of our existence, manifest peacefully and lovingly.

Everyone on earth right now is so busy. You're all speeding around trying to get this and that done, feeling that if you don't get it done, you'll be done in. We want to say to you that you'll be done in if you forget to stop, to quiet, to listen to the spirit moving through your mind, to listen to the songs of your soul, to listen to the callings of your dreams. You are not machines, created to get things done. You are vehicles of light, designed for creativity, for conceptual thinking, for feeling, for change and most of all, for sharing love.

It is imperative that each person on earth now and in the coming times makes a conscious decision. Are you going to live in reaction, to the demands of your world, or are you going to create your life from the wisdom of your soul, using the actions of the world as your tools and opportunities. We have spoken to you many times before about the conscious decision between fear and love. This is another example of that decision.

Everything on the earth plane is increasing in its energy and intensity. Because of this, it becomes increasingly important to observe your life, your actions, your impulses, the visions coming to you and make conscious decisions on how much energy you will use to respond and gather to restore.

We hear so many of you saying to us, "I don't have time. Just be there for us, help us." What would happen to a flower that was too busy seeking the sun to soak up the water from the earth? What would happen to a tree that was too busy bending its branches to the wind to put deep roots into the earth? Can you really afford to be too busy? We think not. We are here. You have been calling us. You have been tuning yourselves as magnets of light. You have been learning from your teachers. You have been gathering from your ancestors. Yet so many of you resist fully embracing the love and light that has responded to your actions and your intentions.

Imagine your supreme being self coming right to your door. He or she has been invited. How silly it would be to say, "I'm too busy picking up the living room to open the door. I'm too busy organizing my work to welcome you." When the supreme being arrives at your door, open the door and say, "Thank you for coming. Welcome to my home."

Be careful not to look around your world and judge your success by how busy you have become, by how much you can get done, by what you can accumulate. Remember, on your plane of existence, your garbage dumps accumulate a lot. Decide the aspects of life that you wish your life to be organized by. Do you want to live in a state of harmony with your life? Do you want to feel blessed by the opportunities in your life? Do you want the flow of the universe to use you as a vehicle of movement? Do you want to feel that you live in a state of grace with the sense of living present in the heart of God? Do you want to look out onto the world and know that you are in loving healthy relationship with the earth? So the decision becomes a daily decision. To live by fear of failure and reaction to need, or to live in a state of grace, feeling connected to the vibrancy of the life forces. It is your decision.

Each time you decide to open yourself to the vibrancy of life, we and your guides can share more light and love with you. For there is more space and consciousness for you to receive. It can be an open state of opening and receiving. Allow it to be.

The next time you catch yourself being busy, busy, busy, just stop, take a breath, welcome the supreme being into your heart, and move with peace into your actions.

So be it.
